

Dr. med. Antje Erler, MPH

Quality improvement, innovative health care models, disease management, chronic care

Tel.: 069-6301-4132

Fax: 069-6301-6428

Contact

University education	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• 1985-1992: Medicine at Göttingen University• 2001-2003: Postgraduate degree in Public Health, Technical University of Berlin
Practical experience	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• 1992-1995: First year resident and assistant doctor, Aberdeen University Hospital, Scotland• 1995-1997: GP specialist training in a practice for family medicine in Hamburg• 1997-2001: Health care management at various company health insurance funds and at the northern German regional association for company health insurance funds, Hamburg• 2001-2006: Researcher at Institute for Health System Research, Charité University Hospital, Berlin• Since 12/2006: Senior researcher at Institute for General Practice, Goethe University Hospital, Frankfurt
Qualifications	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• 1997: GP Specialist• 2003: Master of Public Health (MPH)• 2007: Doctorate
Current Focus	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Development, implementation and evaluation of innovative healthcare concepts in general practice• Patient Centred Medical Home• Chronic Care Model• Evaluation of Disease Management Programs• Quality improvement